DMCG Annual Hike Meeting

Wednesday, December 12th

7:00 PM

Tom Ellis, Marana Park & Rec.

"What's New in the Wild Burro Trail System"

The scope of the Ridge Line Trail has changed. It was initially going to run 7 miles from Alamo Spring to Cougar Canyon. It is now going to basically follow the ridges above Canyon Pass and then drop down to the end of the Wild Burro Tank Trail, which was completed two years ago.

When the Wild Burro Trail System was first laid out 9+ years ago, it was intended to have a multi-use Trail Head near Tangerine and I10 near the CAP. The trail would head northeast through the Tortolita Preserve and connect with the Wild Burro Trails System. Over the next hiking season work would begin on that trail.

Status of the existing trails in the Wild Burro Trail System.

On five of the last six Dove Mountain Hiker's hikes, that were high up on up and on the other side of the ridges that are northeast Wild Burro Tank and the Goat Corral, wild feral horses have been spotted. Last spring we saw a group of 14 horses. In late October, while bushwhacking the unfinished east section of the Ridge Line Trail, we spotted eleven horses. Pictures of the horses will be shown.
